Compliance Update

Immediate Action Required - Product Recall Announcement

CTFB is notifying Partners of a nationwide Product Recall from the USDA. This recall is due to a possible Listeria contamination of Tyson Fully Cooked Chicken. CTFB has not purchased affected items and has not received contaminated product from the USDA; however, it is possible these items could have been a part of food received through Agency Retail Pick-up or as a part of other donations. Please visit the links below to review the list of potentially contaminated products.

- Products included in this recall are listed here and the labels here.
- Read official USDA announcement of the product recall here.

Please check if your agency received any of this product and dispose of it immediately.

If you have any questions, please contact us at agencies@centraltexasfoodbank.org.
