

HOPE CLIENT INTAKE: USDA INCOME ELIGIBILITY GUIDELINES

The food items provided by the Central Texas Food Bank through the Healthy Options Program for the Elderly (HOPE) include US Department of Agriculture (USDA) commodities. Therefore, in order to receive Mobile Pantry food, clients must qualify to participate by meeting USDA's Income Eligibility Guidelines.

How do I know if I meet USDA's Income Eligibility Guidelines?

Using the chart below, find where the number of people in your household intersects with your household's income. If this dollar amount is equal to or below your household income, you meet the requirements to receive USDA commodities and are eligible to participate in Mobile Pantry.

What if I don't meet USDA's Income Eligibility Guidelines?

If your income level exceeds the income guideline for your household size but you or someone in your household receives one or several of the following federal benefits you still are eligible to receive food:

- Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)
- Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)
- Supplemental Security Income (SSI)
- National School Lunch Program (NSLP)
- Non-institutional Medicaid

If you do not meet USDA's Income Eligibility Guidelines and you or a member of your household does not receive one of these benefits but you are experiencing an emergency food need you may qualify to receive food by documenting your emergency food need on the Mobile Pantry Client Intake Form. After six months, you will need to re-qualify for the program by completing a new Client Intake Form. If at that time you still do not qualify based on your household income or receipt of federal benefits but are experiencing the same or a new emergency situation, you may re-declare your state of emergency and qualify to receive food for an additional six months.
